Dispute Over Oil Fields Disrupting Lausanne Parley

Britain Serves Notice on Turkey She Will Never Surrender Mandate Over

TURKS MAY APPEAL TO ARMS DECISION

 Believed That Ottoman Army Is Moving Into Disputed Territory to Foment Revolution.

> Lausanne, December 27.-Fears that Turkey may play her trump card-an army of 50,000 well-trained troops under Djevad Pasha-to settle the impasse at the Near Eastern peace conference over the disposition of the rich Mosul oil fields are freely expressed.

> Great Britain, through Lord Curzon, British minister, Wednesday served notice on Ismet Pasha, Turkish nationalist representative, that England would never relinquish the mandate to Mosul which was awarded to her by the league of nations Curzon, furthermore declared that he would not discuss the subject again; that it was settled as far as he was

Although Ismet has not yet given his answer, it is believed he will flatly refuse to give up the claim on the territory. The Turks have made Mosul one of their chief demands at the parley and it is decidedly unlikely they will back down.

Concentrating Troops.

It has been disclosed that ever since the start or the parley the Kemalists have been concentrating troops at Diarbeki, the town nearest the territory of Mosul. Djevad, the commander of the force, is with the possible exception of Kemal Pasha, one of ables general of the nationalists.

Reports are current that agents of the Turks have arranged for a revolution in Mosul as soon as the ar rival of the troops of Djevad.

The British, in event the Turks pursue this military course, would be powerless to prevent the invasion because of the inadequacy of Britain's soldiers in the Near East.

Invasion of Mosul by the Turks would be similar to the violation of the neutral zone by the Kemalists of the British.

Curzon, in his communication to Ismet, declared:

Curzon's Note. of nations renders it absolutely impossible to ever contemplate the return of Mosul to Turkey or to see any advantage of further discussions of the question. "Nevertheless, I am ready to instruct my experts to take up with Turkish experts and discuss rectification of the northern frontier which will limit Turkey's southern frontier of Mosul, but that is the only concession possible."

It was believed Wednesday night that Curzon's note to Ismet practically assures the breakup of the conference. The communication, it is generally conceded, was intended for the foundation of the rupture in the parley. No agreement has been reached on any vital question during the six weeks of negotiations.

Near Breaking Point. The British press spokesman formally advised newspaper correspondent that the conference will probably reach the bresking point within a week unless the Turks capitulate on at least a half dozen issues. There was much discussion among bservers here that George Tchitcherin, soviet foreign minister, would be responsible for the rupture, if it comes, because he has outgeneraled Curzon by bringing influence to bear on the Angora national assembly. Curzon's apparent victory on the straits question. it was pointed out, faded out before Tchitcherin's suc cess in persuading the Turks to block everything in the following conferences. It is, therefore, because of this storewall opposition, for which the ans are blamed, that the allies etermined to force a show-down.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, December 27 .- (By Constitutio nLeased Wire.)-The national woman's party from their headquarters at the capital tonight announced plans for carrying on a second campaign against what are described as "discriminatory" laws against women in the state of Georgia. A similar campaign was ducted previous to the meeting of the last state legislature with the result three measures sponsored were passed, it was stated.

According to the announcement, the opening gun will be fired in Savannah, December 29, when Miss Lillian Bass, member of the local research department of the organization, is scheduled to make an address before the woman's club in that city At the same time the proposed campaign of the woman's party to be waged in 42 states will be outlined, the announcement stated.

Georgia laws which the organization will seek to have repealed are set out in the following statement issued

"Although the woman's party won three measures of equal rights legislation at the last session of the Georgia legislature, namely, the mother some months ago despite the protests was given equal rights with fathers in appointing a guardian for their children by will; married women were given the right to be appointed guardians; women were given the same "England's obligations to the local | right as men to be appointed guarpopulations, the allies and the league dians for their collateral relatives; there remain in the common law and on the statutes, laws incompatible with democracy.

Speculation is rife tonight as to whether the twelve men alleged to be in the plot will be arrested at once and what the policy of the city author ities will be. The nature of the teet mony against them is not known be it seems to be rather explicit.

Previous Disorders.

The information made public this afternoon is regarded the more seriously because of previous disorders. Early last year three men assaulted H. Gordon Hinkle, then acting city manager.

Destruction Planned.

The places to be destroyed, according to the information secured by the authorities, were the following:

Residence of J. Homer Dimon, city commissioner and mayor, on third avenue, opposite St. Luke Methodist church, of which he is a member.
Residence of Ruben Kyle, city commissioner.

Residence of Miss Anna Griffin, city commissioner. Miss Griffin lives

JUSTICE TO THE SOUTH.

With Justice Day, of the supreme court, retiring January 1, the president will soon be called upon to appoint another justice to that august bench.

Having filled the last vacancy by the appointment of a northern democrat in every way worthy of the position, it is generally accepted that the next appointment will go to a republican, and the name of Judge Edward T. Sanford, of the federal court of the eastern district of Tennessee, is said to be under serious consideration.

Judge Sanford is held in universal esteem, regardless of politics, and his appointment would be entirel, acceptable to democrats as well as republicans of this section.

The situation is such that we do not see how the president can afford to ignore the just claim of the south for recognition in this apnointment.

ago on the confirmation of the apointment of the new democratic instice from Minnesota, both Georcla senators expressed their protest hat the south was unrepresented on the bench by voting against the infirmation of the last appointment not that either senator questioned the character or the ability of the new justice, but they took this od of entering their protest at the fact that the south had been crooked in this appointment, hich it was thought would go to

Plans for Highway Legislation

in which Mr. Mann discusses the complications that prevented the enact ment of substantial highway legisla f the state. In his letter to Judge Howard he says: Favors Bonding Plan.

Says:

Favors Bonding Plan.

I have your letter of November 23 and have given it and that subject considerable thought, not only since receiving your letter but ever since our unsuccessful highway bond bill effort at the last session. I must express my hearty appreciation for the unselfish efforts you continue to make in behalf of good roads for Georgia.

In your letter you expressed the opinion that the "Perryman bill" was favored by more members than any other plan. In this I think you are mistaken. It is true that a majority of one of the committee hearings favored it, but the test votes in both the senate and house showed otherwise. Of course, I shall be glad for you to send me a copy of this bill and if a majority of the good road advocates in the next house and senate agree on this bill I shall gladly support it.

The highway bond bill that passed the senate after being amended by Senators Johnny Jones, Harrison and Kimsey, was prepared in your office by F. E. Twitty. T. A. Cheatham and myself. It provided for a bond issue of three million a year for three years. This bill was finally amended so that only such bonds should be issued as were necessary to match federal aid, When this bill came to the house and went to the constitutional amendment committee, which appeared to me as averse to any kind of bond bill the Perryman bill if shall was offered as a substitute. Had this senate bill beep riven a place on the house calendar. I firmly believe we would now have a state highway bond bill already passed, but when the Perryman bill finally came up for consideration in the house, it met a decided defeat.

The two main objects to the Perryman bill tree. First, the people and the legislature do not seem willing to pass a very large bond issue which this bill necessarily contemplates. The second objection is that Advocates Bond Issue. Ilmit the cost per mile.

Advocates Bond Issue.

It is vitally important that the good road advocates over the state baree on some bill before the session begins. With all the effort, money and time "spent on the $75,000,000 bond issue last year when we went before the house and senate've found that this movement had a reflex influence and almost made impossible the passage of any kind of a bond bill. It gave the politicians and reactionaries a good thing to mag at and misrepresent. We now have the experience of the inst session and the test votes brought out then and we should shape a bill that need not be so severely criticised.

built that I do hope we can get a larger bond issue than just enough to match federal aid.

I think the bill which passed the senate and really stood a good chance in the house should also be sent to the legislators and others over the state interested, with a suggestion for a larger amount such as already indicated above. If you and others agree to this, I shall be glad to furnish you with a copy of the bill and bear part of the expesse of getting it sent out. I think it beat that whatever bill is agreed upon that it bear no one author's name but let it go out with the approval of such men as yourself, those named below and others.

I am glad you are bringing this directly to the attention of the legislators, for I think it should be left for them to assume the leadership in and responsibility for some real constructive road legislation at the next session. I would suggest that you call a preliminary conference of both legislators and others interested, in Atlanta some time during February for the purpose of agreeing on a bill and magning out some plan to get it clearly before the legislators.

Allow me to assure you and the many

Broadway, by the way, is a strange, silent street around 4 o'clock in the norning. Somehow the silence seems morning. Somehow the silence seems loaded—you expect a piercing shriez or the quick report of a pistol. There was a Main street touch near the Hotel Astor. On one of the cement traffic islands a shepherd dog war asleep on a subway grating—a warm spot. The only show of life was in the one-armed enteries, where men with collars furned up and hets sulled. with collars turned up and hats pulled with collars turned up and hats pulled down were gulping coffee and sinkers. THE MISTAKES OF THE KAISER

AN ANSWER TO THE KAISER'S MEMOIRS By RENE VIVIANI Premier of France When the War Broke Out Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution

BALKAN WARS BRING A CRISIS

These prodigious increases seemed still insufficient when the Balkan wars broke out. In the autumn of 1912 a new plan of land armament was taken into consideration, under the greatest secrecy. This plan was laid before the chancellor in December, together with a report declaring that increases were necessary in the army on account of the attitude of the triple entente, which, though a defensive counterweight to the triple alliance, showed, nevertheless, "strong offensive tendencies, since it had political ends in view the pursuit of which was adjudged by the allied powers worthy of their maximum efforts." Despite these considerations, which were a shameless camouflage of the truth, the chancellor and the entourage of the emperor hesitated. The plan was not approved until the first of the ensuing January; it was presented to the reichstag in March, 1913.

For the purpose of carrying out this pregram in the purpose of carrying out this pregram tures, which reached a total of 1.000-1000,000 marks, provision was made for a single war tax. The bill for all the above was promptly passed on June 30, and the press did not conceal the loy felt by the government. The company to us for a world policy." And the goal to be pursued was clearly ack knowledged thus: "The army can peace footing to & war footing. The comp prince and the kaiser adopted a bellicose tone in their speckes and orders of the day, which was the attitude of peoples and governments in the lands of the triple entente—which, according to the pan-firm and Russia had no object in view. Entense Blameless in Balkan Turmoil.

Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece and Montenegro, in fact, had made a series of agreements in the spring of 1912, a veritable series of war compacts, of which France and England were at that time almost totally ignorant, and of which Russia, though in some cases entrusted with the role of arbiter, had only imperfect knowledge. Despite this, Germany felt no compunction in pretending, even in her 1919 memorial on the responsibilities for the war, that the Balkan developed.

prepared ner bases and points of support.

England, France and the Balkan states as her accomplices.

In order to refute such allegations it suffices to refer to the official publications of the various allied governments, particularly to the three French yellow books dealing with Balkan matters. Therein may be found the clearest possible proof of the endeavors made without cessation by entente diplomacy, notably by France and M. Raymond Poincare, for preventing the conflict, and, afterward, for localizing and abating it. On the side of the triple alliance, however, quite different sentiments were manifested.

Austria, who seemed disappointed at the rapid victories of the Balkan allies, particularly of Serbia, could not reconclle herself to a partition of Turkey without her own participation; therefore she speeded up her millitary preparations and concentrated troops on the Serbian frontier. At the same time she sought to involve Italy, who had just obtained Tripoli from Turkey, in her game. The triple alliance was renewed in advance on December 5, and Italy received promises assuring her of preponderant power in the eastern Mediterranean.

officers were also unanimously reelected, with the exception of S. C. Mann, trustee, who was succeeded by John F. Scott, and the naming of C. B. Keesling, of the Barbers' union, as sergeant-at-arms.

Another important action of the federation was the passing of a strong resolution extending to Simms, mayor-elect, felicitations upon his election, and offering the hearty co-operation of the labor forces to the chief executive in his efforts to give Atlanta a clean and efficient administration.

The election of Mr. Quinn, engin-eer at the county jail, as president of the federation to succeed himself, evidenced the popularity of the labor chief, an ovation being given him as the clerk was instructed to cast an unanimous ballot for his re-election. unanimous ballot for his re-election. Other officers re-elected by acclamation were: Vice presidents, Mrs. M. E. Sewell, Charles B. Gramling, C. W. Cunningham, W. C. Carraway; recording secretary, Louie P. Buford, Ga., December 27.—(Special.)—Bill McDaniel, of near Lawrenceville, is in Downey's hospital; Gainesville, and Miss Mary Philyaw is painfully injured as the result of a head-on collision of two automobiles this morning—the accident occuring within the city limits on the Buford and Gainesville highway.

A truck driven by W. R. Cromer, of Atlanta, skidded across the road in turning a sharr curve just in front of the touring car being driven by H. C. Philyaw, of Atlanta, who had been to Gainesville to attend the funeral of his cousin who was killed there Monday when a charge of dynamite was accidently exploded.

In the car with Mr. Philyaw was his sister, Miss Mary, who is employed in the shoe factory of Bona Allen, Inc., of this place, and his brother, Olen, of near Suwanee.

Cut by Broken Windshield.

Miss Mary Philyaw was badly cut about the face and legs by flying glass from the broken windshield, while the Philyaw brothers were only shaken by the jar of the collision.

The truck turned over, pinning Mr. Cromer under it and throwing Mr. Cromer under it and throwing Mr. McDaniel out, injuring his spine and possibly fracturing his spine and possibly fracturing his skull, besides other cuts and iriuries that could not be determined by the first examination of attending physicians.

It is claimed that the accident was the result of speed and roads slick from the heavy rains that fell here last night and this morning. East Point, Ga., December 27.—

WABASH WINS AGAIN.

Albany, Ga., December 27.—(Special.)—The Albany "Y" five was defeated here tonight by the great Wabash team by a score of 38 to 16. The game was fast and interesting throughout. The Albany players put up a good fight but were overwhelmed by the superplaying of the Wabash combination.

Conversation along this line was Conversation along this line was pretty general yesterday at the Atlanta Athletic club when the subject of the club quintet's approaching opposition was touched upon.

Come to think about it, folks, the outlook isn't one that would cause Joe Bean to inform his charges that there was no necessity for worrying over the situation. At this distance the Wabash-A. A. C. battle at the Auditorium Salurday night looks to be the hardest assignment the locals will run into before they start in the national tournament.

One more hard scrimmage tonight and a lighter affair Friday and the boys will be called upon to turn back invaders from the middle west who apparently have made up their minds apparently have made up their minds that they are not going to be humiliated by any opposition the south can offer. An unbroken string of victories has been compiled by Wabash on this lunge through the heart of Dixie.

If they get by the A. A. C. Saturday, the westerners stand in little danger of being stopped. But the chance the locals are taking is beyond a possibility. For the first time in years. Bean's team will take the in years, Bean's team will take the court with few of its supporters be-lieving the home machine will tri-

Wabash, champions of their con-Wabash, champions of their conference last year, have lost none of their powerful attack. The crushing defeat they administered to Columbus Tuesday shows this: 102 to 11 was the score, made against a team, too, that had sent such basketball immortals as "Tippo" Peddy, the Pease boys and others to the front.

Powerful Attack. The Columbus team, of course, isn't e powerful combination it was back the old days when the Muscoger representatives were to be found right at the top in national ratings, but a points against any quintet must be eriously considered by its opposition.

The Atlanta boys won't simply be playing against a collection of good players Saturday. From reading accounts of the Wabash-Columbus game, one is impressed with the thought that the invaders can do more with a basketball than Houdini could with headers of the party even than the with handcuffs, more even than the Seven Aces of our radio department can accomplish with musical instru-

Regular basketball magicians, we would say of boys who will provide the competition at the first of the games that will be played at the Auditorium, where the public will be given the opportunity to see the locals in action. The three games played earlier this season were staged at the clubhouse on Auburn avenue, where the attendance was made up entirely of club members, but from this time on Atlanta's basketball fans are issued a cordial invitation to attend.

After Hard Games.

Stern opposition and Atlanta Ath-letic club quintets are not strang-ers. The club schedule-makers have one out of their way year after yea to provide enemies that would make the locals work for every triumph they achieved. As soon as a team reaches dangerous proportions it is added to the A. A. C. list.

Coach Bean is now praying that his team hit the proper edge, He believes in his boys. He is confident that with a fair share of the breaks, coupled with good form, the A. A. C. five would be on even terms with any combination in the nation. But unless these essentials are realized Saturday, the splendid record of his team is likely to be spoiled.

CHIEF OF POLICE IS CHARGED MURDER FOR KILLING NEGRO

Soperton, Ga., December 27 .- (Spe cial.)—Lee Troupe, a negro prominent in fraternal orders of this city, who was shot Christmas day by Chief of Police J. B. Frost and his brother Grady Frost, died last night.

A few hours before he died Troupe made a statement giving his version of the trouble and subsequent shoot?

ing. This statement was made in the presence of witnesses.

Chief Frost had arrested a drunken negro for reckless driving in the downtown district when several small chil-er, 150 guests and members of the club attended.

The party was in the nature of a dinner, and Christmas festivities were continued with a zest. After the dinner was concluded a musical program was given which included numbers by Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Goodyear and Maria Goodyear.

One of the most enjoyable parts of the program was the presentation of "Christmas Carols" by a group of children from faculty families. Lights were turned out and a large star lighted by electricity, creating a realistic setting.

Miss Mildred Shelton, daughter of Dr. W. A. Shelton, who recently returned from the Orient, where she collected historical curios for the Emory university museum, gave several readings. Miss Shelton is at home for the holidays from Wesleyan college.

Tollowing him. This he did, but, according to witnesses the negro date the remark that Chief Frost bad better watch out or he would get him before night.

After locking up the drunken negro. Chief Frost accosted Troupe and asked him about the remark he had made and told him he was under arrest. Troupe showed fight and resisted arrest, and, according to Mr. Frost, seemed to be trying to get a weapon from his pocket. Chief Frost bulled his gun and fired twice, both bullets hitting the negro.

Witnesses say that Grady Frost fired about the same time that his brother did. In his dying statement the negro denied that he was trying to shoot Frost.

Warrants for murder were sworn out for the Frost brothers immediately after the negro died. Neither have a rarested yet but the father of the young men states that they will appear at the commitment trial which will be held in a few days.

John Heisman Offers Sug- CENTRE WILL gestion That Will Do Away With Tie Scores

New York, December 27.—The American Football Coaches' association, at its second annual meeting today, went on record as strongly opposed to gambling in connection with college football or commercialisation of their amateur fame by college gridiron stars who participate in professional games after being graduated.

gridiron stars who participate in professional games after being graduated.

Resolutions embodying this attitude, framed along lines of the stand taken by the western or "big ten" conference, were adopted by more than 100 gridiron coaches and athletic directors representing about 40 colleges and universities.

The association, which closed its sessions tonight at a dinner addressed by a number of prominent football authorities also adopted a code governing fair play, good sportmanship and coaching ethics as recommended by a committee headed by Alonzo Stagg, veteran Chicago gridiron mentor. Chief among the features of this code were demands for strict adherence to amateur rules, enforcement of rules prohibiting side line coaching and discouraging all commercializing influences on the game.

Extensive discussion of rules problems developed no outstanding recom-mendations, but special interest was manifested in two proposals, advanced to provide a means for settling games in which the teams are tied at the end of the regular playing period. No formal action, however, was taken on either.

One suggestion, put forward by John W. Heisman, of Pennsylvania, John W. Heisman, of Fennsylvania, provided that in event of a tie contest each team be given the ball for three plays, the elever gaining the most ground to be awarded an extra point and thereby the victory. The other scheme, proposed by Frank point and thereby the victory. The other scheme, proposed by Frank O'Neill, former Columbia coach, and endorsed by R. C. Zuppke, of Illinois, among others, provided for award of a deciding point to the team which registered the most first downs during the game.

The full price of the deal was not given.

The Andrews field property was purchased by a holding corporation consisting chiefly of O. B. Andrews and Z. C. What she saw seemed to her the very incarnation of the spirit of fire—a molten, seething mass of metal, glowing at white heat, with subtle, wicked-looking, curling flames twisting and darting over its surface. The ing and darting over its surface. The consign to flames or to the dust heap.

Miss Driscoll was a practical and a dropped the blue glass.

"It's awful," she said, shuddering again, while the night watchman closed the door of the drawhole. "I couldn't have conceived it. What a terrible fate!"

"Ah," said the night watchman laconically, "if you'd drop a coin in there it'd melt up like a large of the state of the st young man as how Finney had left all his belongings to you, ma'am," he said, by way of introducing the subject. "I expect there's more nor one thing in the cottage here that you'll have no use for, and as I'm going to live in it I thought we might make a bit of a bargain."

"I was thinking of selling everything," replied Miss Driscoll. "I don't suppose there is anything at all that I shall require. Anything that you wish to buy you may have at a reasonable price."

Then she stepped into the living room and looked about her at the late Finney's household goods. The room was pretty much as it had been left by the dead man, for the new night watchman had not yet entered into possession, and conspicuous among the objects which it contained were the two whiskey bottles which Mr.

CHAPTER XV.

Mr. Baxendale' Prodigal Son.

It so happened that the day following that on which the fortune and the diamonds fell into Miss Driscoll's hands, as ripe fruit sometimes falls at the very feet of the unsuspecting stranger who walks meditatively through an orchard, was a Sunday, and Miss Driscoll was glad of it.

She wanted to be quiet in order that she might carry out a seemingly desirable task, and give herself up to severe thought. With these objects in view, she gave her maid-of-all work whole day's holiday, remarking that she thought Selina looked rundown and would be all the better for a rest, and that she herself, having no particular desire for a hot dinner, would dispense with the usual Sunday for a sea and make out upon a cold lunch. By 11 o'clock Selina had departed, and Miss Driscoll had the house to herself, and she immediately began to carry the seemingly desirable task into effect.

This was nothing more or less than a minute search through all the late.

Mr. Finney's effects as comprised in the bureau, for any document, paper, entry in account or memorandum book, or for any reference whatever to the diamond neckluce. She had thought the thing over since early morning and had determined that Finney must have come into possession of the gems in a way of

"It occurred to her that the diamond necklace had been lodged with him as security for a loan. This "Why?" asked Miss Driscoll, who saw nothing remarkable in the presence of two empty bottles.

"Why, ma'am, 'cause Finney, whatever his other faults and vices, as they call them, may ha' been, was never a drinker. Nobody ever saw him take more than one glass at a time. And yet," continued the new night watchman, "what's the facts? It came out, when they went into things a bit this morning, that night before last Finney bought them two bottles o' whisky at Linaere's, and there they were this morning empty. Supped the two on 'em—a strange thing for Finney to do."

Miss Driscoll looked at the bottle

Miss Driscoll looked at the bottle

Miss Driscoll looked at the bottle once more as folk look at the grue-some objects in police museums. She turned away from them with a feeling that it was just as well that inanimate objects cannot speak.

"Well," she said, "let's see the furniture,"

"Well," she said, "let's see the furniture,"

"Driscoll found no reference to the diamonds. She came across memorand. of curious and interesting transactions in which Finney had figured at one time or another, but nothing relating to the gems. "In case I get arrested?" Lucile suggested. "The place is called Peters', and I don't know where it is, but you can't get in unless the proprietor knows you, and it's said to be awfully tough. Good recommendation, isn't it? Don't worry about me, though—Ted will be with me, you know."

Cynthia reflected that that was small cause for not worrying.

"I suppose you won't be home till late," she said, thoughtfully. Then, acting on impulse, she exclaimed, "Oh, Lucile, please don't go! Stay home just this once—I do wish you would. Lucile, I.—I really do insist that you stay home."

Lucile defied her openly.

"I'm going, just the same." was all she said, as she stepped into the hall and closed the door of her-groom. Cynthia did not quite know what to do. She could not have said her-

Williams-Duling Wedding Took Place at Home

A wedding of cordial interest to hosts of friends throughout the south was that of Miss Kathleen Williams and Hugo B. Duling on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, December 26. The ceremony was performed by Dr. S. R. Belk, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Williams, on North Boulevard, in the presence of the immediate families.

Palms, ferns and rose colored begonias banked the mantel in the living room and decorated the improvised altar most effectively.

The bride wore a handsome tailleur of midnight blue duvetyn with platinum duvetyn. With this costume she wore a corsage of bride's roses and valley lilies.

The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Williams and Mrs. Benjamin Williams and Mr. Seaborn Ozburn, both families ploneers of Atlanta, who did much for the town in its infancy.

She attended the Atlanta public schools, afterward finishing her eitheuts in Milwaukee, Wis., and also, took & six months' course at the University of California. She is a most attractive and charming young woman, and is a pretty blonde.

Mrs. Duling, son of the late Charles Duling, of Morgantown, W. Va., a graduate of that state university in 1918. He is a popular member of the Phi Sigma Kappa. He is now identified with the faculty of the Georgia School of Technology.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Duling left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. Upon their return to Atlanta they will be at home in their apartment on St. Charles avenue.

Star Seen in Texas Was Planet Venus,

The planet Venus is thought to be the strange star sighted in Abilene, Texas, Tuesday and local astronomers are inclined to discount the theory that the strange heavenly body sighted in Texas in broad daylight is a new planet.

Atlantan Believes

Professor M. T. Reed, instructor of astronomy at Emory university, advanced the opinion that the star was Venus, and stated that the relative position of Venus at this time to the earth and the sun would substantiate the theory that the strange body is venus. is Venus.

is Venus.

Venus was plainly visible in Atlanta during its last daylight appearance several years ago, Professor Peed said. It was stated that the reason it couldn't be seen from Atlanta at this time was most likely because of the cloudy state of the atmosphere.

Professor Peed said that if the star seen in Texas was a new body it would surely have been seen and reported by the observatories in this country and abroad.

MRS. LESTER IS FREED IN RECORDER'S COURT

Charges of disorderly conduct preferred against Mrs. Frank Lester, of 36 Tumlin street, who battered E. D. Penn, of 129 State street, blacking both eyes on Christmas day, were dismissed by Councilman J. C. Murphy, who presided in recorder's court Wednesday morning.

Penn arrived in the court room after the case had been called and dismissed. He explained that the street car he was on was delayed.

Mrs. Lester stated that Penn, in an insulting manner, began questioning her concerning the address or whereabouts of some of her relatives, and perceiving no other means of getting rid of him, she says, she began "pasting him a few" when he is said to have retreated.

For Mrs. Fariss.

One of the delightful affairs given in honor of Mrs. F. D. Fariss, of Columbus, Miss., who is spending the holidays as the guest of friends in the city, her former home, was the bridge party given by Mrs. Anna Belle, H. Tull, at her cousin's, Mrs. Angus Perkesson, in the Blackstone apartment, Tuesday afternoon.

The decorations were of holly and poinsettists, the color scheme of red and green being carried out in every detail. The favors were hand-made baskets of red with miniature bells and red ribbon, filled with crystalized fruit. A delicious salad course was served.

The guest of honor was presented with a book and the prize for high score was also a beautiful book which was won by Mrs. P. W. Smith.

Mrs. Tull was dressed in a dark brown canton crepe with lace. Mrs. Fariss was gowned in dark blue georgette over charmeuse and a becoming large black panne velvet hat.

Miss Perkerson assisted in entertaining and wore a dainty spring model of black taffeta and velvet.

New York, December 27.—Liverpool was a good buyer this morning agd the result was that our market opened around the 27-cent level and made new highs for the season. Heavy profit-taking and some fresh selling from, the southwest checked the advance, the market remaining steady around last night's closing prices. The acarcity of contracts continues to be the feature of the market. There was more trade buying than has been seen for some time. The sentiment is extremely bullish but is questionable whether it is advisable to follow the advance at these prices, although there is nothing indicating any weakness in the situation.

Futures in Liverpool are due as follows: January 14.73, March 14.59.—Hubbard Bros.

January 14.73, March 14.59.—Hubbard

New York, December 27.—In response firmer Liverpool this market opened 10 points higher. The weight of 10 carried the May options well over tent limit. Became reactionary shorter the opening when two brokers alon about 90,000 bales of cotton, press for a prominent uptown operator where the opening was also account of the december of the secondary of the seco At the low point of the dat, however, selling became less aggressive and a process of absorption followed, carrying prices back to within 10 points of the high. Near the close the local element played for a further reaction but made little days the market easing a trifle, with the tone steady. The leading bulls are still expressing a firm belief in higher prices, having no idea or intention of liquidating their cotton below the 30-cent limit, feeling confident that the question of supply and demand will govern ultimately and that fundamentals are so apparently bullish, sethecks from time to time will have little effect on the economic value of cotton.—Fenner & Beane.

New Orleans, December 27.—The market was of a good sized long interest today in realizing that brought prices down nearly $2 from the top. Buyers took the stand that the position of the market was good, advices from the cotton goods trade are very optimistic for the way year.

The inquidation was well absorbed and the general feeling is bullish. Spot news was good, advices from the cotton goods trade are very optimistic for the way year. The market has lost none of its strength statistically and as a result of otday's liquidation is in a healthy condition technically for another advance, which seems almost inevitable.—Fenner & Beane.

for another advance, which seems almost inevitable.—Fenner & Beane.

New York, December 27.—The better end of trading in today's cotton market was on the seiling side, motwithstanding the fact that prices had a sharp run up early in the morning and demand was active.

The effect of this selling, however, is shown in final quotations which are almost understand when this is considered at a time when it is popularly conceded cotton is bound to so hicher and considerable participation is taking place on the long side in expectancy of such development forthcoming in the very near future develops again the question and more importantly now than before as to whether the market has reached the top of the present strong movement. Certainly the Liverpool market gave mo encouragement for expectancy of a great rush up of prices.

As quotations there were only comparatively steady and while meeting our rise of yesterday and a 'ew points hicher at one time yeb clearly at the advance demand tapered off we have confidence in the market going higher ultimately, but there is such a reckless abandon on the part of some, who are buying for a rise, that this very situation may be a temporary undoing of an otherwise permanently sound situation. Because of the class of buying which has assisted in advancing prices it seems possible that the next move may be in the form of a sharp reaction.

Coffee.

New York, December 27.—The market for coffee futures was somewhat irregular at the opening, prices being 2 points lower to 6 points higher. There was some scattered realizing in the near months after yesterday's advance, but the offerings were light and after they had been absorbed, active positions generally worked higher on covering and trade buying. March sold up to 9.50c and May to 9.60c, making new high ground for the movement and the close was at the best on most months with January 1 point lower, but with other morths showing not advances of 4 to 16 points. Sales, including switches, were estimated at about 58,000 bags. January, 10.04c; March, 9.94c; May, 9.60c; July, 0.25c; September, 8.77c; December, 8.45c. Spot coffee, firm; Rio 7s, 11%c; Santos 4s, 15% @15%c. Some of the cost and freight offers were a shade easier but most of them were steady. They included Santos 3s and 5s at 14.20@18.00c and Rio 7s at 10.45% @10.50c. The official cables from Brazil showed advances of 140 points in the Rio exchange rate and a decline of ½c in Rio exchange on London, but Rio futures were 175 to 200 reis higher. Santos was 75 reis lower to 25 reis higher. Brazilian port receipts, 48,000; Jundiaby receipts, 22.000; Rio cleared 41,000 bags for New York; Santos cleared 41,000 bags for Southern ports.

The Gandy Bridge

Across Old Tampa Bay

A Concrete and Steel Bridge Connecting Tampa and St. Petersburg

C APITALIZING THE BRAINS, FORESIGHT and EXPERIENCE of one of America's foremost construction engineers, Mr. George Gandy, we are now in position to offer to the public stock in small units in one of the greatest engineering and construction projects in the United States—the GANDY BRIDGE ACROSS OLD TAMPA BAY.

MR. GEORGE GANDY, SR., NATIONALLY KNOWN AS A BIG BUILDER, first saw this opportunity, and with his foresight and ability to do big things, soon had under way what is destined to be one of the biggest construction projects in the United States, to be rivaled only by the Flagler Bridge to Key West, the Bridge at Salt Lake and the Hudson Tube.

THE BRIDGE AND CAUSEWAY IS NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION in direct charge of MR. W. G. THOMPSON, former CHIEF OF CONSTRUCTION UNDER MR. GOETHALS IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE PANAMA CANAL. The date set for opening for traffic is January 1, 1924, and when completed will be the longest toll bridge in the world, connecting Tampa and St. Petersburg, Fla.

PERMANENCY WILL BE THE KEYNOTE IN THIS CONSTRUCTION, reinforced concrete of the heaviest type throughout, advantage being taken of the experience gained in other construction, both by the company and the government, as well as work of a private nature. This bridge will be built to stand the ravages of time and in the years to come will rank with the pyramids.

THE ADVANTAGES AND FUTURE OF THE BRIDGE ARE ASSURED. Tampa, the commercial and industrial center of the Florida West Coast since the days of Ponce de Leon, and St. Petersburg, the Nation's Playground, at present are separated by a steamer trip of ewenty-two miles, while the shortest rail route is fiftyfive miles and the shortest automobile route is fifty-seven miles. THE BRIDGE ROUTE WILL BE NINETEEN MILES.

DISINTERESTED MEN ESTIMATE THE BRIDGE'S EARNINGS at from $600,000.00 to $1,000,000.00 for the first year and far in excess of $1,000,-000.00 for each subsequent year, basing their estimate on the toll rate of 75 cents for each automobile and driver, plus 10 cents for each passenger, which has been fixed by the Florida Legislature, which will easily pay for the cost of construction and interest within about six years.

THE BRIDGE COMPANY OWNS THE PROPERTY ON WHICH IT IS BEING BUILT. Different from most toll bridges, which in time revert back to the state, the Gandy Bridge rights have been granted to the Company by the Florida Legislature in perpetuity by a special act and certain necessary sections have been approved by the United States War Department. Thus when and as the bridge pays for itself it is owned by the stockholders.

WE ARE OFFERING THE STOCK IN SMALL UNITS in order that all who wish to take advantage may avail themselves of it. The issue is 200,000 shares of 8 per cent cumulative, participating Preferred Stock with a par value of Ten Dollars ($10.00), and 250,000 shares of Common Stock without par value. This will be sold in units, each unit consisting of Three (3) Shares of Preferred Stock and One (1) share of Common Stock, base price per unit Forty Dollars ($40.00).

THE COMPANY WILL RETIRE THE PREFERRED STOCK as rapidly as possible (Estimated at five to six years) at $11.00 per share by a special or reserve fund set aside for the purpose, which, when done, will leave the entire earnings to be distributed, less minor expense of bridge up-keep, among the holders of the Common Stock as dividends. Coca-Cola, we believe, is an example of this method of stock operating.

NO NEED TO TELL YOU OF OTHER BIG SUCCESSES. You are not blind, neither are you offered something in a far-away section. You know what has been done and the profits that have been reaped by those who had the foresight GET IN EAT 'n new firms that have grown up around you right here in our own home section, and you know what the future of the South, particularly Florida, is and what it holds.

> If you are interested and wish to know more, a card or a me message will be sufficient. We will have a representative call and explain further.

The friends of Attorney General Daugherty say his resignation is based on both personal and political reasons, the latter of which are in no way due to friction between him and the administration. Mr. Daugherty is represented as strongly inclined to resume his private law practice which is said to be very inviting, due to the prestige obtained through his present office and his clear or said to restrict the said of the control of the said his close association with the admin-

If Mr. Harding should fail of re-elec-tion his chances to make desirable connections would be less attractive, it is further pointed out.

The same source of information has it that Mr. Daugherty will not go out of office until the house makes a report on the impeachment charges against him and now pending! Ob-servers are agreed that the judiciary committee, conducting the investigacommittee, conducting the investiga-tion, will issue a report completely vindicating the attorney general, and may be expected to felicitate him on the conduct of his office.

Storm Brewing. Being given a clean slate of this kind, the way would be open for him to resign his post without embarrassment, such as surrounds the case of Secretary Fall, who is known to be at odds with the president and cer-tain members of the cabinet over the plan to reorganize the several execu-tive departments of the government. Another factor entering into the case is the criticist, which Mr. Daugh-

Mr. Daugherty is also said to be listed to manage President Harding's campaign next time, in which event he could serve better as a private citizen. All of this is cited by the attorney general's friends in support of their belief that he will quit the cabinet at an early date following his acquittal of the impeachment charges.

Deaths From 'Flu' and Pneumonia Show Big Drop, Says Bureau Report.

Washington, December 27. — (By the Associated Press.)—Declines in the death rate from heart diseases, in-fluenza and penumonia and tuberculosis in all its forms, the three principal causes of death in the United States, were the outstanding features of 1921 which shows the lowest death drawn upon during his term of office. Just here, it is recalled that Former Secretary McAdoo gave as his reasons for resigning from the Wilson cabinet the necessity of going into private business to rehabilitate his finances. It has been a matter of comment for some time that cabinet offices fail to pay enough to maintain an establishment in official life in Washington.

catchy songs, inthing songs and disconsiderable of the spoken by finished actors, costumes gorgeous in color and stage settings or reflecting the newest creations in light, painting and expressionism, served very largely to make for the success of "The Man From Earth," the nusical comedy, presented by the Triangle Club of Princeton, Wednesday evening, at the Woman's club radiction before an enthusiastic audience of Atlanta's most representative citizens.

It was "different"—therein lay its appeal. There was nothing tardy, nothing stale or hackneyed in this presentation of the Princeton undergraduates who wrote the music as well as the lines for their play, designed their own costumes, sets and scenes and achieved for themselves the artistic color tones in the expressionistic lighting effects. Added to this, the boys seemed verily oozing with life and put a vim into their songs and dances that gave an impression of spontaneity that roused the audience at once to enthusiasm.

The play that has as a background the planet Mars, deals with the adventures of the "man from earth" who in a state of inebriation is blown to the planet by the explosion of a still "down here." The story is based on the contrast of this man's ideas and habits with those of the Mar-

"Tell them in Americal, tell all my friends, how much I appreciate their kind Erest," she said. "I shall get well again, never fear."

This message was sent out through Madame Normand, the directress of Bernhardt's household, as the doctors forbade their patient from receiving any visitors.

Bernhardt's butler said that one of every three of today's callers was American. Government ministers, playwrights, members of the French academy, prominers statesmen and tellow actors and actresses called 'at the house but all were refused admittance to the sick room. The only "friend" Bernhardt was allowed to see was her pet Angora cat which jumped upon her bed as soon as admitted.

Her severe illness has given rise to much speculation regarding Bernhards correct age. Most authorities give the date of ber birth as 1844, but the birth records were burned in 1871 when the Paris city hall was destroyed by the revolutionists.
